CUT MILK SURPLUS
PLEA OF FARMERSPublicity Campaign in January
Aimed to Aid Dairy-men.

An active campaign will be waged in Rock county one week during the latter part of January to increase the use and sale of milk products as a means of reducing the heavy milk surplus which is now resulting in a serious loss to farmers.

J. S. Thomas of the department of agriculture will have charge of the publicity campaign assisted by other representatives of the university.

The campaign will be waged throughout the county, it being planned to use extensive newspaper advertising, to have contests in the city and country schools with prizes, the issuing of posters and pamphlets.

People will be acquainted with the value of milk as food, the use of various milk products and the process of handling milk from the dairy to the table. All men who deal in milk will unite and lend their aid to the project. The committee in charge will be composed of Harold Ward, Avalon chairman, Henry Weiland, Beloit, and Marcus Kellogg, Janesville, representing the Farm Bureau, and William Shurtliff, Roy Merrick and William Wright, of Beloit, as members of the milk dealers' committee. Mr. Shurtliff will be treasurer of the central committee and is authorized to receive funds.

All men dealing in milk or milk products in this county and the Farm Bureau have given $200. The total fund expected will be more than $1,000.

Value to County
It is fully estimated that about 17,000,000 gallons of milk are produced in Rock county. The total value of milk products in 1919 is given as being $1,240,481. In the opinion of the agricultural agent the value is more than $3,000,000 at the present time. This indicates the great value of milk to Rock county in that dairying contributes a major part of the wealth and prosperity of the county.

The price on milk has dropped 30 per cent in less than four months. As a result the demand has been cut down. This leaves the farmers with a dangerous surplus which they cannot dispose of through regular channels being required to put the surplus milk to all else profitable use such as feeding skim milk to stock and only selling butter fat.

Fighting substitutes.
Pushing the use of milk and milk products, it is declared, will decrease the use of other which is declared to be the cheapest and best food on the market.

Prizes will be offered in the public school system for the best essays on the production of milk products and the value of milk for food. Lectures will be given in many of the cities, towns and villages by university agents, in connection with this campaign the Farm Bureau is waging a fight to limit the use of butter substitutes.

WAR BLAMED FOR CRIME INCREASE

Police Say Men Have Become Hardened to Take Chances.

Now the poor, old, torn and ragged war is being blamed for the wave of crime. It is called "war psychology." There have been a dozen robberies in northern Wisconsin during the last month and in no instance have the thieves been caught. The large increase in criminality among people who during the industrial boom were content with the wages, and also a decided increase in the boldness and success of criminals, is held by the police authorities here as the reason of the series of crimes.

Highway Crooks
Peter D. Chapman, chief captain of the Janesville department, rightly calls the modern thieves "highway crooks." They are the men who stick-up men riding around in the best automobiles, and what is more, they work during the day or early evening. Says Chapman: "A few years ago the bulk of the robberies were committed in the dead of night. This gangster today must be a union man who don't work after dark. He takes in plain daylight and makes his getaway with a $5,000 high speed auto. He doesn't sneak—he just uses boldness and speed."

Others venture an opinion that success has prompted much of the wave. They say that when a leader of a gang of crooks succeeds in getting off a $5,000 high speed auto, the next boldness in the aggregation tries his luck at even a bolder and more daring game.

Oh! Blame the War
How does the war come in? Just in this manner: A line soldier who has followed a barrage or gone down a dugout to greet a number of waiting Hunns who have bayoneted their comrades ready, made that man a little more savage in nature. He ceased to fear firearms or be frightened when the muzzle of a gun was pointed at him. Not that a. E. T. veterans turned criminal in great numbers but it is the psychology of their experiences. The fear of firearms has been less among people, especially crooks. Their fear of being shot by a "bull" or patrolman has been decreased. The war left men with a human factor of being more intent, more desperate in attaining their ends no matter the odds. It applies to crime as well as legal business.

Honesty Strengthened
Also it is claimed that ordinary persons who have believed themselves honest have had some of their ideas changed during the war. The doubt-boy thought nothing of going out and stealing food and fuel to give him comfort. It was not considered stealing. Then there is the man who thinks he is honest but with a moral code of ethics does not brand himself as a thief. That same man who stretched his conscience to take more in his own conscience.

The "war psychology" is declared to be catching. It is the only way the present epidemic of stealing can be stopped is to remove the opportunity for safe and successful crime.

Lake to Be Reclaimed
At the spring election the city voted to issue bonds to the amount of $20,000 for the purpose of improving the park. The improvements to be made are: replanting the old dam and reclaiming Lake Leota, which is really the old mill pond. This will give the children a place to swim and to skate.

CITY TO ENTERTAIN NEXT "SEC'Y OF WAR"

Political prognosticators of Janesville are paying particular attention to the choice for President-elect Harding's cabinet because of the coming visit of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood to this city on or about January 10. The general will be in Washington to attend the war college early in January, according to a letter received at the Chamber of Commerce here today, and will come here from there. The private car of the president of the Chicago & Northwestern railway has been placed at the disposal of the general in making the trip to Janesville. This was accomplished by the local chamber.

Predictions are made that General Wood will be selected to carry the portfolio of secretary of war. Significance is placed upon the fact that when Wood realized his defeat at the republican national convention, he immediately threw his support to the support of Harding. In addition, the general has long been a close friend of Senator Harding.

BRITISH DIPLOMAT PAYS RESPECTS TO PRESIDENT-ELECT

One of the notables who greeted President-elect Harding during his two-day visit in Washington recently was Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the U. S. This photo, taken after his call at the home of Edward B. McLean, where the new executive was a guest, is the most recent one of the British diplomat.

Edgerton
Frank Russell, Correspondent.

Edgerton.—At a regular meeting of the City Council held Friday evening, Joe Conn, was appointed as a member of the council to succeed Frank Russell, who has been elected to the position of city official. Mr. Conn is one of the oldest business men in the city and while he holds the position which is one of the thankless jobs that one is sometimes called upon to fill he is willing to serve out the unexpired term of his predecessor.

The meeting held last Saturday called for the purpose of interesting farmers in producing flax for the linen industry was well attended and a great deal of interest was shown. The meeting was held at the Woman's club and was opened for visitors. The city has rented the rooms adjoining the post office for this purpose. The farmers wives and daughters are especially invited to make use of the rooms which are free to all.

The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

SAMSON TRACTOR BIGGER AND STRONGER
S. du Pont, it has passed from Mr. Durant into the hands of a host of friends. It was necessary to raise $100,000 in a few days. If it was not done it meant ruin to Mr. Durant. Mr. Pierre du Pont came to the rescue and the great organization was born. The policy was to get the S. du Pont, backed by a successful career, is an assurance that the Motors Corporation will go ahead and prosper.

Enormous Capital Needed.
"Enormous capital is needed in the operations of the General Motors Corporation," said Mr. Durant. "It is not enough to have a good product. It is necessary to have a large capital to back it up. Let it be remembered that the du Ponts never speculate, never buy and sell their stocks on the market and operate a business in industry as an industry. One of the great industries of the General Motors is the making of tractors. It can be seen that we are going ahead to the finish and carry out the plans on which the industry was originated."

Mr. Sloan asked that there be co-operation between the corporation and the community, and only in that way could both be successful.

MANY FARMERS PLAN TO RETIRE

Lull in Business and Difficulty of Job Blamed for Predicted Changes.

Low farm profits are causing many Rock county farmers of experience to make plans now to sell their property this spring and retire. The lull in the farm business is the hardest to buck at the present time and they desire to sell out to younger blood and enjoy ease on their earnings of years of hard, confining work. There are more auctions expected during February and March than for some years previous. The farmers intend selling out and moving to the city.

Value of Land
Rock county farm land is selling at high prices. The buildings are modern and the farm small. The average price is expected to be near $250 an acre for farms and near $1,000 for land with a small building on it. The value of land has died down.

Concern is also being held for the fate of crops next season among farmers who have faith in an early look of 1921. Whether they will raise big crops to boost prices through a shortage of supply is a question bothering the farmers. The outlook will be a big crop next year, according to present indications. The crop in corn has left many of the farmers undecided on whether to plant for a big average or small. Planting plans are for a good sized crop for feeding if not for market.

Wheat Damaged
Crops planted during the fall and early winter months have been damaged by the open winter, farmers claim. Winter wheat planted in September needs a heavy coating of snow and the thawing and freezing of the ground. Some farmers say they will plant over fields which have been sown a few months ago for winter wheat.

Farmers also are waiting for an increase in the price of market beef to further cull out their herds. The drop in milk has made it unprofitable to keep poor producing cows. Until the bottom price the shipping of cattle from this vicinity was active.

Mr. Ketterling Won the Race.
E. P. Ketterling, of Dayton, closely followed by all the Samson activities, and the head of the engineering departments of the General Motors, was introduced by Mr. Craig as a high diver, bold and brave as a lion. He lives out beyond "Trail's End" and the only thing Mr. Craig said he had against him was he resided so close to Dayton, Ohio.

Mr. Ketterling made good the introduction at every stage of his talk. He bore down on the necessity of the nation to the forces of the motor power, external power, and discussed the "internal combustion engine" as the great civilization. "We started out to show the farmer the way to the right kind of farming in the face of the fact that no one has succeeded in motorizing the farm and we are going to do it now."

"We will have to eat in the kitchen for awhile. The automobile industry has been hit as hard as any industry has 500,000 automobiles in stock now and 500,000 more to be sold second hand for the purchasers won't pay for them."

"It will take time for readjustment for the nation to meet the new order of things. But it will come and industry will again be at the top."

A Few Points for Janesville.
A. B. C. Hardy, assistant President of Durant, and at the present time without a title, is the man who was sent to many cities and spent weeks selecting a site for the tractor plant to be built by the General Motors Corporation. He told last night how he came to select Janesville and how he had learned that the tractor was not all that should be made, but that everything on the farm had to be made mechanically. It is the power furnished by the tractor. "That was why he had recommended the purchase of the plant and business of the Janesville Machinery company and it was a step that had never been suggested."

Janesville Less Hit Than Other Cities.
Janesville, by the slowing down process, had been less hard hit than other places. That, where there was a great plant for the making of the Buick, had less than 5 per cent of the former number of men in employment. But Janesville could rest assured that when the clouds were cleared away from the business horizon it would come back.

"Don't think that this is to be done."

R. R. NOT BREAKING EVEN FINANCIALLY

New England Lines Seek Immediate Relief to Save Service.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 21.—Questions raised by practically all the New England railroads before the interstate commerce commission indicate that the entire financial policy of congress toward the railroads of the whole country as declared in the transportation act may break down unless relief of some kind is immediately forthcoming.

Congress plainly said that the railroads of the country should earn at least five and a half per cent on the value of their property. The New England railroads have confessed before the interstate commerce commission that they are earning nothing as a whole and are insisting that all the other railroads east of the Mississippi should be required to give up at least $25,000,000 in revenue on freight to meet their deficit.

No Surplus Revenue.
But the other railroads, on the other hand, contend that they are falling far short of the six per cent which they claim they are not going to be any surplus revenue to divide with the New England group of roads. In fact, the eastern railroads which include some of the most important lines of the country, have been so hard hit by the sharp decline in freight shipments since October that they contend they are earning less than five per cent on the value of their property and are deeply concerned over the outcome of the New England case and while the other railroads east of the Mississippi do not feel like digging down into their pockets to help out the New England roads by permitting the division of joint freight rates to be increased, nevertheless they are hoping that some way may be found by which the new transportation act may be made to work. For they realize that a breakdown in the government guarantee method in one case might seriously affect the whole structure of transportation finance and might be especially serious at this time when economic conditions generally are in delicate stages of readjustment.

roads should get at least five and a half percent on their investment.

The eastern railroads have further contended that the New England lines ought to increase their local freight and passenger rates within New England in order to meet the emergency, but New England shippers declare they couldn't stand any such rates and particularly would they oppose any increase in rates which would be not general in its application.

Roads Bunched Together.
The whole controversy hinges on the claim of the New England roads that the interstate commerce commission in valuing the railroads in the eastern group included the property of the New England lines estimated to be worth about $340,000,000 on which the government guarantee of six per cent would entitle them to over fifty million dollars annually. But the $340,000,000 was grouped with all the other railroad properties in the east, thereby increasing the value of all railroads east of the Mississippi upon which the interstate commerce commission based its increase of 10 per cent in freight rates. The New England roads have been withholding from the group, it is estimated that the other railroads would have obtained about $130,000,000 less. And New England's railroads ask that this be transferred to them.

Elitist Pleads Case.
Howard Elliott, formerly president of the New York, New Haven, and Hartford railroad, and now president of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific railroad has appeared before the interstate commerce commission to support the New England case. He states emphatically that it will be a most serious thing for all the railroads of the country if the New England lines are permitted to go into the hands of a receiver as the New England railroad representatives here have told the commission will surely be the case if relief is denied them.

It is known that many railroad executives besides Howard Elliott are deeply concerned over the outcome of the New England case and while the other railroads east of the Mississippi do not feel like digging down into their pockets to help out the New England roads by permitting the division of joint freight rates to be increased, nevertheless they are hoping that some way may be found by which the new transportation act may be made to work. For they realize that a breakdown in the government guarantee method in one case might seriously affect the whole structure of transportation finance and might be especially serious at this time when economic conditions generally are in delicate stages of readjustment.

RUSSEL PARKER IS SUED FOR ACCIDENT IN MADISON, NOV. 13

Summons have been received in the circuit court here showing that Russell C. Parker, son of George S. Parker, is a defendant in a suit brought by Milwaukee people who are alleged victims of an automobile accident in Madison on Nov. 13. The complaint has not been filed.

The case was started in Milwaukee at the residence of Rudolph Pheil and his wife, Mrs. Josephine Pheil, and then taken to the circuit court here for the reason that Parker, as defendant, is a resident here. The plaintiff in the action was hurt in Madison when run down by an auto alleged to have been driven by George Dennison, who has since left his position in Janesville and disappeared on the day of the Wisconsin-Illinois football game. The Pheil woman suffered a broken arm. Jack Riley of this city, was also hurt when it is alleged Dennison was on a wild rampage with the Parker car. Russell Parker was not in the machine at the time of the accident, according to his own affidavit.

The claims which make Parker a defendant in the case are not known as the complaint has not reached the Rock County court in which the case is on the docket.

BARBERS BUSY IN READY FOR "BIG DAY" NEIGHING DILLED

Christmas trees don't claim that they alone get "trimmed" up for Christmas—all barber shops did a rushing business yesterday, practically every barber shop was a "kindergarten" filled with kids who were getting their hair trimmed for today, the "big day."

Many little folks made their debut this afternoon when they lisped "Bang up the baby's stockings" before a large and adoring audience of parents at the various schools of the city.

Back to the barber shop! The local barber isn't the stole you always believed him. His imagination was taxed yesterday when he was called upon to answer such questions as these from his small customers:

"What's Santa Claus doing you?" "Did you write him a letter?" "Auntie, while the barber takes a hurried inventory of the shop, 'Where's your chimney?' Then he explains that his chimney is in his home fireplace, in the front room.

Pearl Island

By Henry C. Worthington.
Copyright 1919 by W. J. Watt & Company.

Right of Reproduction Sold to Jamesville Daily Gazette.

"As the case stands Drake appears to hold all the cards, especially as one of your boats is being fitted out to go to the others gone to fetch a fortnight. At the best they are small and slow, and Drake tells me you have no more diving gear. He appears to think that Drake will have cleaned up the boat by the time they are able to get to your support. So I am afraid, my dear, that your prospects for the pearls are not of the brightest. Drake has promised me, however, to offer no violence and says that under the circumstances he is willing to offer you a half share to be made over to you as soon as the concession, but he doubts that you will accept the proposal. I should most strongly advise you to do so, for a better lot is yours."

Then followed a page or two of what struck me as rather rapid expressions of gratitude to me for my care of them and my hospitality and of such truck including the opinion that I could not have been so very lonely on Treasure Island with the company which I had been sprayed, rather as though I were a fireman at the flaming table of a house with the fire hose turned on me. The letter wound up by saying that "Charles Drake had told her they expected McCluskey to call in about a week and when they would ask for a passage to the next steamer port. And at the very end she said: "As things stand between I scarcely know what to do about that insignificant pearl you gave me, Jack. If it was an engagement present, I suppose I ought not to accept it. It is a very accidentally given. When so able please let me know what you wish to do about it."

And then many expressions of an affectionate if not loving character and her signature,
"Alice Stormish."

There was also an enclosure from the bishop, a few brief, kindly words expressing sympathy and gratitude and affection with some pious wishes for my future success. A good old soul, the bishop.

"I said to End and when I had finished reading, "Now aren't you ashamed of yourself?"

"No," she answered, "but I'm ashamed of Alice. Kinky her asking you to tell her what to do with that pearl. She knew you would keep it. Since you are no longer engaged why doesn't she leave it with Mr. Harris?"

"Never mind," I answered. "Let her keep the old black pearl ball.
There will be plenty for my bride, although I don't think that she is the sort whose happiness depends on pearls."

"For once I agree with you," she answered, softly.

"Thank you," I said. "Have you any idea who that lady is destined to be?"

"Of course I have. Her name is End Weare."

"You are right," I admitted.
"Knowing this lovely lady as you must, do you think she would be offended if her prospective husband to explain a few of his misdeeds and shortcomings?"

"It was of course agreed that he was not to make love to her until their escape from a predicament which entailed great intimacy and a complete privi-ation, and now as it appears, a certain amount of danger. But all the same, don't you think that he might express his appreciation of her acquaintance while yet not breaking his promise?"

"I am afraid not," she answered,
gravely. "You said Alice End Weare was underneath her main exterior a young lady of some intensity of ton-perament and any words of appreciation from a man whom she has deliberately chosen for her mate and has come to regard as almost actually her husband might possibly result in behavior which might be unworthy of them. Under the circumstances, I think that it would be preferable to express any great desire for expression by taking a shot at Drake."

I stared at her for a moment in amazement. Here surely was the stupidest and stupidest and stupidest talk that ever flowed from a pair of impassioned lips. I looked at her with wonder; examining her from the tip of her golden nose to the tip of her pink toes peeping from the well-worn sandals feeling that I was trying to determine the character of no science had ever classified. And reaching her eyes I let my own rest and Charles Drake told me that you on them with admiration and the light which might come from those of an angel in the stained glass window of a church. Yet, it seemed, I was not in their doing but in their being. I answered gravely.

"You are always right. Sometimes I think that you are a rather more with a contempt for most of us mortals but condescending to lavish
an Olympic passion upon me."

When she seemed at once to have dropped his boyish mask and wore a strained look, dark beneath the thrust pale of outward and drooping like those of a child about to cry. The delicate nostrils dilated almost perceptibly with each deeply drawn breath.

It was evident that a tremendous emotional struggle was going on within her, a fire with which she nosed in the hold of a vessel and the hatches tightly bolted down.
There had been the tension of just dealing with Drake, the letters just read, the danger which threatened and our prospect of imprisonment there in the cave. At all she was only a girl and she wanted just now to be loved and petted and comforted and consoled. But that clear reason and singleness of purpose which her husband possessed she had chosen her must and bless her, but she had determined not to take him as such until it could be done as befitting her rank and status.

As I realized all of this an infinite tenderness swept over me. I stooped down, raised the hem of her flannel skirt and brushed it with my lips.
"Alice End Weare is right," I said,
"and she need have no fear but her wishes shall be respected."

CHAPTER XIV

End and I stood watch and watch throughout the night. About sunrise I was awakened from a light doze by a lively ruckus aboard the bladder. It sounded like a young bottle factory just turning to.

"What's up now?" I asked of End, who was sitting in the mouth of the cave.

"I don't know," said she. "They seem to be doing some sort of iron-work or so."

There was no question of this. A tremendous hammering and banging was going on and through my glasses (which I had been wearing since the morning when we were plundered by the natives) it seemed to me that they were sheathing up two large packing cases with sheet metal after sheet of corrugated iron roofing.

"Trying to make bullet shields to protect the boats," I said. "I don't want to do them much good. We are too high up."

Nevertheless I was a bit worried.
They might manage at last to overtake the armed diving crew sufficiently to enable them to work with the men at the pumps working head and the bullet shields were safe enough as they could go down on the lee side and we could pepper the boat itself indefinitely without doing any damage. A few plugs whittled down to at the bullet holes and there you were. Their only danger would be in going and coming from the schooner, and even this might be obviated by sufficient work and material.

HUSTON DEPLORES JOHNSON'S WAYS; PRESS CLEAN UP

New York, Dec. 21.—Failure of the American League to elect New York, Boston and Chicago representatives to its board of directors at the annual meeting last Friday indicated clearly that President Ban Johnson and the clubs which supported him in the league war "are dissenters from the new League regime in baseball," Col. T. L. Huston, chairman of the new League, announced in a statement here tonight.

"During the past year Johnson has fought the appointment of Judge Landis as chairman of the National Commission," Col. Huston said, "and successfully resisted the judge's advent into baseball until compelled to consent at the recent Chicago meeting. His show of acquiescence is the very best of hypocrisy. He and his associates have been in the League since the very first day of its existence, and they have been in the League since the very first day of its existence, and they have been in the League since the very first day of its existence."

"The elimination of Johnson would automatically restore tranquility."

JOHNSON TO PUNISH GAMBLING CHARGE PROBE

Chicago, Dec. 21.—President Ban Johnson has announced that he will punish any player who is found guilty of gambling. He said that he would not tolerate any player who is found guilty of gambling, and that he would punish any player who is found guilty of gambling.

It has been rumored that President Johnson may endeavor to stop the American League in order to press the charge of the prosecution. Johnson has placed the matter in the hands of his attorneys, who, it is said, are to confer with the State's Attorney General to learn just what can be done to hurry up the cases now before criminal court.

COLUMBIA AND YALE CANNOT PLAY IOWA

Iowa City, Iowa, Dec. 21.—Columbia University has wired Coach Howard Jones that the tentative date with the Hawkeyes must be cancelled. The New York university rearranged its schedule, and gave Dartmouth the only date Iowa had to offer, and the Columbians send regrets instead of a contract. The result, Iowa players had planned to go to New York City next winter. The Yale game is also impossible, and Jones has no Eastern opening left.

W. S. DAVIS CUP TEAM SET FOR FIRST GAMES

New York, Dec. 21.—America's Davis cup team is in good condition and is ready to start the series for the tennis classic on Dec. 23, 25 and 27, according to a cable received by the United States Lawn Tennis association from Samuel Hardy, manager of the team.

A Letter from Home

Dear Mother:

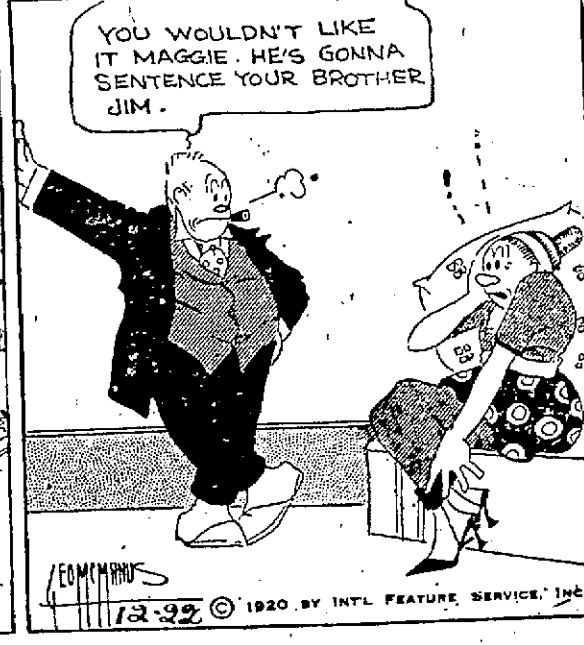

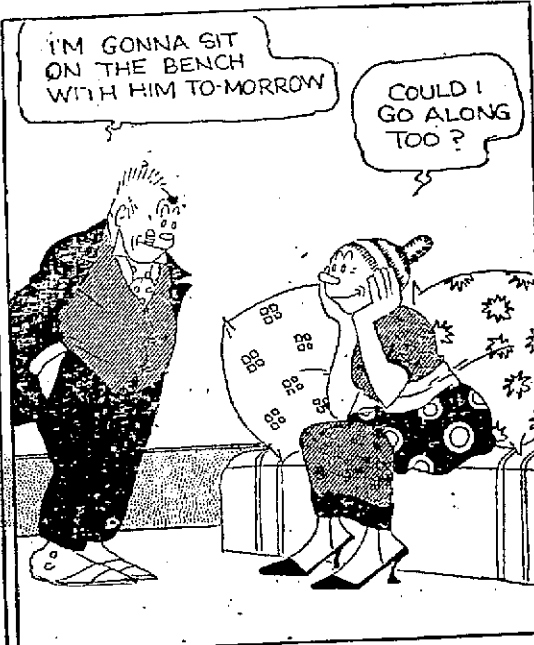

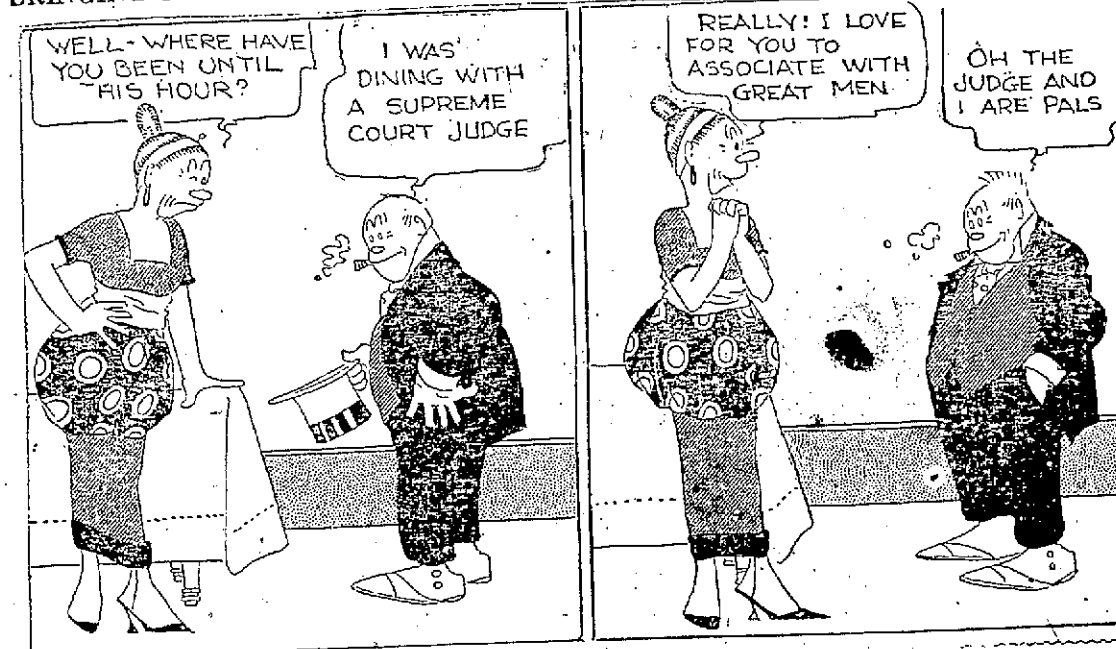

Nothing could have pleased me more than your Christmas gift, a year's subscription to the Gazette. It is like a great big letter from home every day bringing to me the news of all the folks in whom I am interested. It brings the home town and its affairs close to me each evening.

Believe me, it was the best Christmas gift ever.

Love from,

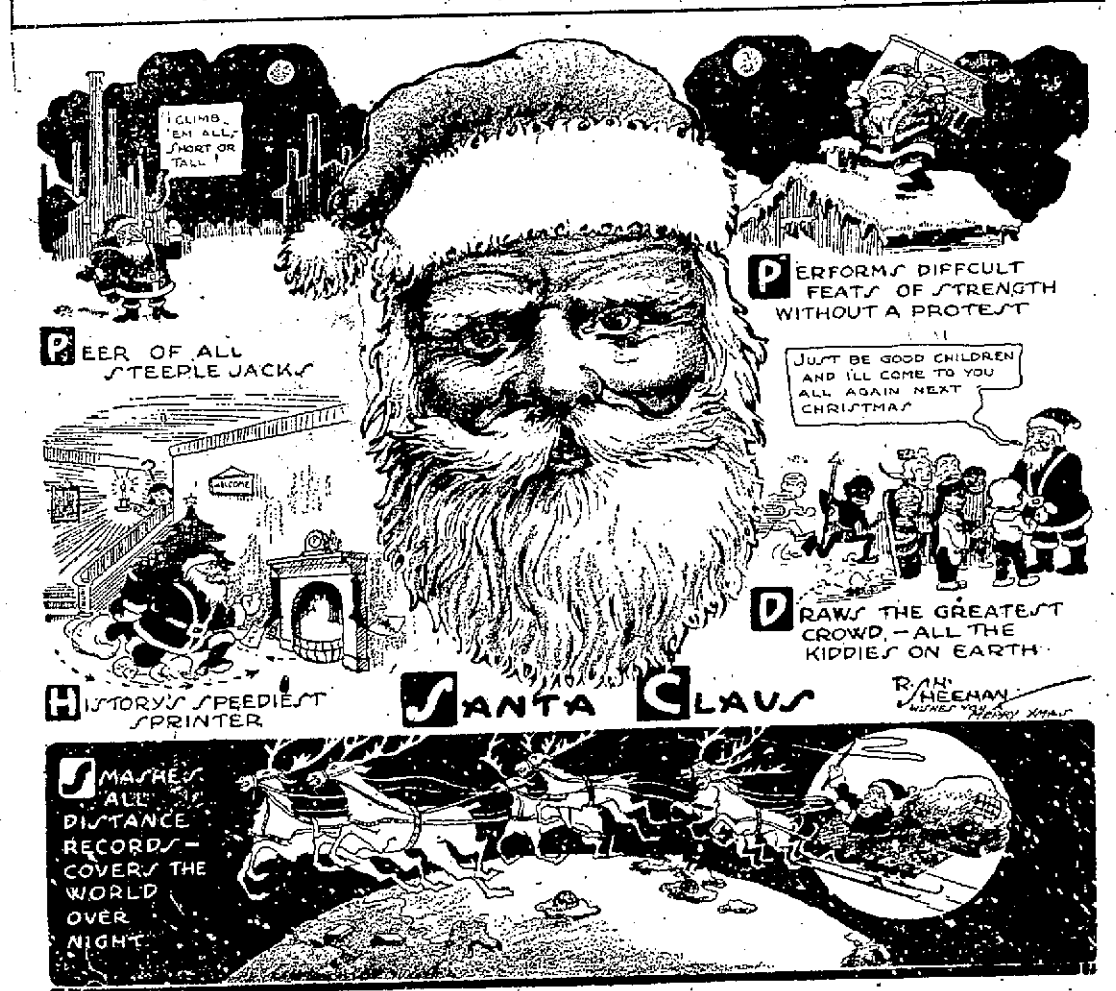

Joe.

THE GREATEST OLD SPORT IN THE WORLD

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

You may search all the records of sporting events And his name won't appear, it is true. From the dashes to baseball and vaulting the fence—

Not one inkling of what he can do. But our hat's off to him at this time of the year. He's the king; he deserves the applause.

Why, he proves every year that he hasn't a peer, This old athlete supreme, Santa Claus.

When he enters his sleigh, gives his reindeer the word, And is off on his Christmas eve flight, He makes all distance records read very absurd.

He goes clear 'round the world in a night. He's a wonder at hurdling, he leaps over walls. He's a strong man, a juggler as well— Look at all the pianos he leaves on his cello, And we never have heard that one fell.

And he plays to the largest fan flock of them all, For the millions who worship each deed Are the rosy-checked tots who invite him to call— And have faith that he'll hear and take heed. He's the greatest, most blessed, rare sport, honor bright.

And the reason is plain; it's because He can train all the year for one wonderful night, This world-beating sport, Santa Claus.

RUMORS OF DEALS TO BOOST BREWERS DENIED BY BORCHERT

Milwaukee, Dec. 21.—Rumors that the New York Giants had traded over Jess Winters and Denny Egan to the Brewers in payment for Alec Gaston, were denied by President Borchert. Borchert declared the deal might not even be pulled off, but if it were, the acquisition of these two players, the former of whom played with the Kaws, for a time last season, and the latter with the Toronto club of the International League, would certainly strengthen the Brewers' lineup for the campaign of 1921. Borchert, however, is confronted with more vital problems.

New Catcher.

Foremost is the task of signing a capable backstop to fill the vacancy left by Cather Alec Gaston. Alec was a classy little performer, and his sale to the Giants leaves a gap hard to fill. No deals are pending which, if materialized, would give Milwaukee the services of a worthy successor.

Johnny Burke, who before the war played with the White Sox team, and who later joined the army, has been signed by the local club. Burke is reputed to be a nifty performer at third base, and Egan will give the recruit ample opportunities to exhibit his wares during the training season in Mississippi.

DALTON'S GREEN BAYS DEFEAT LA CROSSE, 48-34

Green Bay, Wis., Dec. 21.—The Tax A. C. Basketball team of La Crosse, who defeated by the Northern Paper mill five here last night by the score of 48 to 34. This is the first game lost this season by the La Crosse team. John Dalton, Janesville, coaches the Green Bay team.

Horseman Proves Wizard with Cue

Willie Hoppe lived the first 18 years of his life without holding a world's title. Now the famous billiardist wants to enjoy a similar stretch of time as peer in his line, but there is one person, a Belgian, disputing his ambition.

That is Edouard Horemans. There seems to be more than mere words back of his claim. Hoppe has held the world's title since 1904, when he wrested it from Vignaux, the Frenchman. Sixteen years as peer of the world is his record and he plans to extend it.

Record Backs Horemans.

Horemans, however, in the series of exhibitions played in Chicago, proves that he has claim to challenge the champion. In four games of 400 points each he made a grand average of 43.9-37. That compares favorably with the average of 40 Hoppe made in his last exhibition tour of the country. One game saw him going out in three innings with an unfinished run of 270 and an average of 103.1-2. This is super-billiards.

DEMPSEY WILL BOX GREB—SMITH WINNER

Pittsburgh, Dec. 21.—John Bell, manager of the Motor Square Boxing club, yesterday received a letter from Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, in which he stated that Dempsey was willing to box the winner of the Greb-Smith bout, to be held here Christmas day. No date was suggested for the match.

The Motor Square club made an offer of $50,000 to have Dempsey box the winner of the Christmas afternoon bout. The proposed bout cannot, under the law, be more than ten rounds.

ALL-STARS PLANNING CHRISTMAS GAMES

Scheduled to be played here Christmas night, next Saturday, the Brookline basketball team has cancelled its game with the local "All-Stars." In their place, either the Beloit Fair Apprentices or the Beloit Olympics will be seen on the floor of the local Y. M. C. A. The Stars plan also to have a game here Christmas afternoon.

Members of the All-Stars are asked to appear at a meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7:30. Discussion of the basketball schedule will take place. Dues are due.

Don't forget—Country Club Dance at D. & L. Sweet Shop Tuesday night.

GIRLS BASKETBALL PLAN OF CHURCHES; TO BOOM SPORTS

Sponsored by the Older Girls' Council of this city, local girls plan a basketball league with teams entered from seven churches. Early plans point to 70 girls taking part in this branch of athletics.

The churches that probably will be represented are Baptist, Congregational, Presbyterian, Methodist, English Lutheran, United Brethren, Episcopalians. Each team will consist of six members. Play will be under strict rules, which are less strenuous than the boys' game.

Tournament in March.

Arrangements have been made by Mrs. A. C. Preston, who will act as coach to the athletes, for use of the high school gymnasium for Tuesday and Thursday evenings of each week. Interchurch practice games will be held on these nights during January and February. A tournament between the teams, with a pennant to the winners, will be held after the last part of February or the first of March.

The Older Girls' council, composed of girls from the Sunday schools of the city, plans to take basketball tournament. It is hoped to play a series of indoor baseball games. Tennis, hiking, swimming and perhaps polo hockey will be taken up if suitable facilities can be had.

COBB TO MANAGE TIGERS; SIGNS PAPERS

DEAR PETEY:

Winston-Salem, N. C. Monday.

Get you a house and lot you'd stay in, W-S a month if you ever got to know folks here like I have. Between business and Reynolds factories and a bully time—well my date book has been bubbling over! And, I'm still running into facts that would stagger even your imagination, old football, with all your kick!

Pete, take it straight from government figures direct to you, that every work day in the week R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. buys from our "Uncle Sam" enough revenue stamps to pay for a duplicate of the handsome new Winston-Salem post office building! Ever hear of such a thing?

And, if you want to get an eye full of an army of more than 15,000 people, be down in the Reynolds factory district when the whistles blow! Never saw such a cigarette firing-up time in my life!

Peter, everytime you light a Camel in the future, call back on what I've slipped you about Camels—absolutely, the greatest cigarette at any price—for quality, for refreshing flavor, for mellow mild body, for freedom from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or odor! It's worth the busiest smoker's time to compare Camels with any cigarette in the world! Camels are simply a revelation! You know that.

I'll open my eyes in Atlanta tomorrow! In the meantime, here's a wad of best wishes I have in stock!

Yours

Shorty.

hall and Carnegie library, part of the corn market and many residences were destroyed. The destruction exceeded that of any property loss in the recent trouble.

Talks on Citizenship

By D. O. KINSMAN, Ph. D.

Professor of Economics, Lawrence College and Educational Director of Wisconsin Society for Civic and Economic Education.

WHAT CONGRESS MAY DO

We are sometimes led to think from the performances of congress that it is at liberty to do anything. It is true there is a wide difference between directing the American people to change their time and passing resolutions regarding the Irish rebellion, but nevertheless these are done within set limits. The power of congress are specifically granted by the constitution. The constitution or they are clearly necessary to carry the expressed powers into execution.

Our forefathers were guided by broad principles when determining the jurisdiction of the federal government and consequently the powers of congress. They believed that the central authority should assume charge of all matters of concern to all the people. Therefore, international and interstate matters were placed under the charge of congress.

Commerce was already passing out of the local line into the national and international stage when the constitution was drafted. So the framers permitted the states to exercise jurisdiction over commerce wholly within its borders, except such as is carried on with Indian tribes. This was very properly placed under the control of congress. Congress also has the power to regulate commerce between the states. To make this regulation as efficient as possible the interstate commerce commission was established in 1887. Its supervision includes both the interpretation and application of all interstate commerce laws. This is the body which permitted the recent advance in rates which has made every consumer a contributor to the upkeep of the railroads.

Congress is given power to regulate commerce with foreign nations. Under this right congress is authorized to state the conditions under which ships may engage in trade under the American flag. It prohibits the importation of diseased animals, shrubs and fruits as well as adulterated foods. It is this clause which gave to congress the power to prohibit the importation of slaves in 1807.

Congress exercises important, indeed absolute, monetary power. It alone has power to coin money, to fix its value, and to fix the value of foreign coins circulating in the United States. Under this clause congress has provided for the making of four kinds of metallic coins—copper, nickel, silver, and gold—and about a dozen kinds of paper money. Mints for coining money have been established in Philadelphia, New Orleans, Denver, and San Francisco. The paper money is made of paper manufactured by a secret process and printed by the treasury department in Washington. Congress has also enacted laws providing for the severe punishment of any person counterfeiting our currency. A force of secret service men is employed to capture and bring to trial persons suspected of this serious crime.

The power to declare war, to raise and support armies and to provide and maintain a navy resides in congress. During the recent campaign politicians of an inferior sort sought to make the public believe that if the United States entered the league of nations she would thereby grant to the league the right to declare war for the United States and to pull out our army and navy to settle European difficulties. There is nothing in the covenant granting such powers to the league and no possible means of enforcing the provisions since they would be in strict violation of our constitution. It would be in order to transfer such powers to the league, and there is no likelihood that the American people would permit such a change.

Under the power to establish post-offices and postroads congress has built up a remarkable system of mail and express routes, including a parcel post system and free delivery in city and country. All of these improvements have done much to increase our enlightenment and promote our common good.

Foreigners may become citizens of the United States only in accordance with laws enacted by congress. This power alone has brought untold blessings to millions of foreigners.

Our inventive ability has been greatly encouraged by patent laws, and our literary talent wonderfully stimulated by copyright laws enacted by congress. Other less important powers are delegated to congress but those named above are typical. No one can measure the great good to be derived from the proper exercise of these powers granted to congress by the framers of our constitution.

Vacancies in Congress. Q. How is a vacancy in congress filled? A. S. R. A. A vacancy in congress is filled by a special election called by the governor of the state in which the vacancy occurs.

Naturalization. Q. How long after a foreigner arrives here before he can become naturalized? A. M. A foreigner can take out his first papers as soon as he lands if he so desires. He must be in this country at least five years before he can take out his second papers and become a citizen.

RESCUE CREWS ON MISSISSIPPI SAVE 116,753,958 FISH

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

La Crosse.—Rescue crews operating on the upper Mississippi river during the season just closed, between Prescott, Wis., and Bellevue, Iowa, saved 116,753,958 fish, found caught in landlocked sloughs, more than all the fish hatcheries in the United States produce in a single year.

Concerted action to induce congress to recognize the valuable conservation work done by the rescue crews on the upper river and grant an additional appropriation to the end that the work may be extended and the field more thoroughly covered, is recommended by Superintendent C. F. Culler of the Homer fish hatchery, in charge of the rescue fishery, in his annual report to the fisheries bureau.

Mostly Game Fish. A large percentage of the fish rescued in this territory during the past season were game fish. The toothsome crappie and sunfish, most popular of panfish, comprised over 60,000,000 or over one half of all the fish saved. The crews found over 2,000,000 catfish and other food product, in the landlocked sloughs and transported them, with the crappies and sunfish, and other varieties to the main river, where they were released and given a show for their lives in a broad stream of flowing water which sustains its animal life during the cold winter months when the fish smother under the ice in the landlocked pockets.

A surprisingly small number of eels and buffalo, so-called rough fish, were found marooned in the pockets this year. This is explained by Mr. Culler by the fact that the work remained high until late in the season and when it began to fall, the rough fish left the pockets and went into main river.

Black Bass Saved. Over half a million black bass, the gamiest fish that swim, were saved by the crews. A portion of the black bass were shipped to the rescue hatchery, in charge of the rescue crews, in his annual report to the fisheries bureau.

"Red Terror" Talk Is Propaganda, Says Vanderlip, Back From Russia

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
New York—A quiet little man, modest in appearance and bearing, walking down the gang plank of the liner Aquitania onto American soil bearing in a permanent document covering the highest business deal in the history of the world.

He was Washington D. Vanderlip, 54, American mining engineer, who recently signed with the Russian soviet government a contract covering all commercial rights in the vast territory of Kamchatka, involving about $2,000,000.00.

This contract will not become effective, he said, until the United States government resumes relations with Russia. "This," he emphasized, does not necessarily mean political recognition of the soviet government. He does not intend to take up this matter directly with the state department, but does plan to do "some missionary work" in this country.

"Our future attitude toward Russia will be governed by public opinion," Vanderlip said, "it is entirely up to the American people as to whether they wish to get the cream of the great business opportunities in Russia or take the skimmed milk after other European countries are through. France already has formed a committee to investigate the possibility of resuming trade relations with Russia and it is well known that Great Britain is about to take this step."

Washington D. Vanderlip.

According to Vanderlip, the Chinese government is about to extend political recognition to Russia. He declared that just before he left Moscow, he was given a letter from Foreign Minister Tschitcherine, showing that an official Chinese delegation had just concluded preliminary negotiations for recognition of Russia, under which the soviet government will undertake to return to China all territories seized under the old czarist regime and to repay all indemnities similarly exacted.

BLOOD POISON KILLS TWO EASTERN ATHLETES

Pittsburgh, Dec. 21.—Two deaths resulting from accidents in a basketball game and a football game, were recorded here yesterday.

James Ryan, 17, injured a finger in a football game two weeks ago. Blood poisoning developed and he died yesterday.

Shortly afterward John R. Powers, 14, died from blood poisoning. Powers was bruised on the shin during a game last week. His leg began to swell later. Physicians said he was suffering from blood poisoning, which caused his death.

Blaze Does $75,000 Damage in Store in Cudahu

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Cudahu, Wis., Dec. 21.—Damage estimated by the fire department at approximately $75,000 was wrought at a fire in the general department store of Frank Dretzka & Son Monday. The blaze started in the basement, supposedly from crossed electric wires.

orican locomotive" and that "the Russian army and navy will never rest until all Japanese are under the ground or under the sea."

In explanation of this latter statement, he said the Japanese are still holding a great portion of the territory involved in his deal, but that the Russians are steadily driving them out.

"Bolshevism and communism will soon die in Russia and will be replaced by a regular republican government, but the leaders of the new government will be the same as those now leading the soviet government," he said.

All these tales of atrocities and the "red terror" are the worst propaganda. While I was in Moscow it was as quiet as a June day on the banks of the Volga," he added.

Vanderlip said there was sufficient oil in Kamchatka to furnish all of the western United States and Canada, and that his backers planned to erect their main refineries in Seattle.

Coal is so plentiful, he said, that much of it is actually on the surface, and he predicted he would be able to sell coal in San Francisco for $4 a ton.

Following is a list of the men Vanderlip said were back of him, all from Los Angeles: Harry Chandler, publisher of the Times; C. F. Brandt, vice president of the T. C. C. Company; W. D. Stewart, president of the Union Oil Company; E. L. Whittier, oil broker; J. E. Sartori, president of the Security Trust & Savings Company; T. B. Gibbon, retired attorney; B. Jevne, president of a chain of groceries; T. W. Braun, head of chain of groceries; T. Hellman, vice president of the Hollman Brothers; Leo Phillips, vice president of the Pacific Mutual bank; and J. B. Fishburn, president of the Merchants National bank.

MENDELSON IN GOOD SCRAP WITH WALLACE

Johanny Mendelson and Otto Wallace are off tonight for a handy 10 round scrap in Milwaukee in the last card of the year in Cream city athletic arenas. Johnny is out to make up for the defeat he suffered a week ago at the hands of Bobby Ward, the Beloit padded glove artist. M. training has anything to do with it, he will win, but Wallace is no mean aspirant.

Three good preliminaries will be staged. Duncan McFarlane meets Walter Graylock for eight rounds; George Gray hooks with Tony Lukes for eight, slanzas and boxing; Benz takes on Young Garibaldi for four rounds.

"Come along and play poker tonight," "Where at?"
"No. 582 Hill street, tenth floor."
"Thanks, I don't play that high."

Big Ten to Drop Purdue, Is Rumor

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 21.—A rumor was in circulation on the Indiana university campus today to the effect that Purdue university is to be dropped from the "Big Ten" conference on the alleged ground that its football team violated the rules by starting practice last Fall before September 15, the day permitted by conference regulations, and also because it has not won a conference football game in the last five years. The next meeting of the "Big Ten" officials will be held in Chicago in January.
